

Before spending time with the art, do you know your...

museum manners?

Many of the artworks in our collection have been around for hundreds (or even thousands) of years! Help us to keep them safe for 1,000 more by not touching. We recommend staying an arm's length (or 3 feet) away from all paintings and sculptures.

Can you find this arm in gallery 102?
Its owner has quite a few of them!

The Art Museum is a big place with lots of art to explore. Remember to use your walking feet as you move through the galleries. And remember to stay together with your grown-ups—you have the map, and we don't want them to get lost!

These fancy feet belong to a man in gallery 210.
Who is his faithful companion? _____

Remember that we can only use pencils in the galleries—no markers, pens, or quills allowed. We also ask you to remember that it's not safe to use the gallery walls or cases as writing surfaces. Instead, borrow a clipboard at the Visitor Services Desk.

Who let this guy into the Art Museum with a quill pen? Can you find him in gallery 225?

If you get lost or have any questions about the Art Museum, there are friendly guards stationed throughout the galleries. Say hello, and don't be afraid to ask them for help if you need it.

If you see a friendly guard, thank them for keeping the art so safe!

Even though having fun at the Art Museum can make you hungry and thirsty, we can't have any food or drinks in the galleries. Visit the Terrace Café if you need a snack break.

Feast your eyes on this beautiful painting in Gallery 110.
What famous Cincinnati artist painted it?

Most of our artworks love to have their photos taken, but some don't like to be photographed at all.

If you see this symbol:  please don't take any pictures.
